Moab, Arches & Canyonlands Photo Expedition

Capture Iconic Scenes & Hidden Surprises of Utah's Red Rock Desert

On this awe-inspiring foray into the canyon country surrounding Moab, every vista is a masterpiece, sculpted by the artistry of wind and water over millennia. From the elegant sandstone spans of Arches National Park to the deep chasms of Canyonlands cut by the Colorado and Green rivers, Utah's high desert is world-renowned among landscape photographers, and this adventure sets you up to capture the best of it. Just over the state line lies the Colorado National Monument, one of the region's best kept secrets, which is also on our itinerary, along with the Upper Colorado River Scenic Byway featuring Castle Valley and the Fisher Towers—rounding out a collection of striking natural features that offer an array of diverse subjects. Outside the bustle of Moab, stay in rustic luxury at our luxury lodge on the banks of the Colorado River, the perfect base for our photography explorations.

Trip Highlights

Delve deep into Arches & Canyonlands national parks plus surrounding features, photographing the region's signature pinnacles, mesas, natural bridges and chasms from sunrise to starlight

Optimal star photography in International Dark Sky Parks, with expert coaching—departures are timed around the new moon for the best possible night sky conditions

Find solitude on remote trails and at lesser-known viewpoints, and explore highly popular Arches on a strategically timed visit when numbers are fewer, for better photo conditions
